PERSONAL PROFILE

After spending many years passionately working as a social worker and counselor to advocate and provide services for the most vulnerable populations in our society, I took time off to raise my children. During that time, I added to my creative skills by opening a small pottery studio in my home. Now that I am ready to return to the workforce, I decided to take my creative skills and combine them with my people skills and problem solving skills. Nashville Software School Full Stack Web Development 6 month boot camp seemed like the perfect way to blend all of my strengths.
